

Protecting Yourself from Misleading Marketing & Marketing Violations

Health insurance companies try to reach people in various ways, like television commercials, radio ads, events, mailings, phone calls, and texts. The Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (CMS) has rules for marketing Medicare Advantage plans and Part D plans, though. These rules protect Medicare beneficiaries from aggressive or misleading marketing.

Watch out for people who:

Ask for your Medicare number, Social Security number, or bank information, especially before you decide to enroll. Someone can use this information to enroll you in a plan without your permission.

Say they represent Medicare. Plans are never allowed to state they represent or are endorsed by Medicare or any other government agency. They cannot use the Medicare name or logo on their marketing materials.

Send you unsolicited text messages or phone calls. Plans must provide you with the option to opt out of communications. It must be done annually and in writing.

Pressure you to enroll in their plan. You can use the entire Open Enrollment Period to make your decisions. You will not receive extra benefits for signing up early for a plan, and you will not lose your Medicare coverage if you don't pick a plan.

Offer you gifts to enroll in their plan. Gifts must be given to everyone at an event regardless of their enrollment choice, and cannot be worth more than $15.

Plans must provide you with the option to opt out of communications (mail, calls, text messages, etc.) about Medicare products. It must be done annually and in writing. Also, before enrolling you, plan representatives must explain the plan's effect on your current coverage. For example, if you have a Medigap, a plan representative must explain how you will lose that Medigap if you enroll in Medicare Advantage.

Tips for avoiding unwanted enrollment: Never provide your Medicare information to anyone but your trusted health care providers. Confirm everything that a plan agent tells you before making a final decision about a plan. Ask for everything in writing. Call your doctors to make sure they are in network for the plan you want to join. You can also call your local SHIP for unbiased answers to coverage questions.
